JACK LONDON'S 'SEA WOLF' TO BE SHOWN ON SCREEN AT YE LIBERTY

Jack London, writing one of his latest successes, in his beautiful grounds in "The Valley of the Moon."

Jack London's animated novel of the "Sea Wolf" will open at Ye Liberty Theater in this city beginning with the matinee performance on Wednesday, July 1st, and continue for one week, followed by Les Miserables, Victor Hugo's masterpiece.

The "Sea Wolf," taken well and reproduced in seven reels, is declared to be one of the best stories in film ever offered patrons of a local moving picture theater.

The acting in the film production of Jack London's "Sea Wolf" is one of the big features. The characterization of "Wolf" Larsen in the hands of Hobart Bosworth, is said to be a masterly portrayal. As the captain of the terror ship "Ghost," a brute at times, and with a total disregard for all others, Mr. Bosworth achieves real distinction. Throughout the eight parts of the picture there is a succession of scenes of intense dramatic interest, and that showing the collision between the two ferryboats on San Francisco bay is probably the most realistic ever filmed. The company enacting the various roles of "The Sea Wolf" is one of the largest and most capable ever assembled for a motion picture production. Jack London, himself, put in eleven weeks personally supervising the production of "The Sea Wolf."

EMPIRE THEATER

A great ranch owned by the Miller Brothers located at Bliss, Oklahoma, is now given over to the production of moving pictures. On the Miller estate of more than 100,000 acres once a colony where eastern invalids were wont to gather for recuperation, the presentation of a host of western pictures are now planned and carried into execution. "The Two Ranchmen," a gripping and thrilling drama in which a beguiling of clever stars are seen, and which is a feature at this afternoon and evening performance at the Empire Theater, is staged and acted on this famous ranch. The picture will feature G. M. Anderson, perhaps one of the most photographed men in the business today.

"Light on Troubled Waters," is a film among a selection of late mainland releases that tells a story of the seacoast in which the courage of a girl to save her sweetheart's vessel after a gang of desperadoes and wreckers have imprisoned her, is depicted with much clearness. The production abounds in a host of interesting situations.

"The Hindoo's Charm" is another drama of unusual power. For a comedy the program contains "Bob Buys an Auto," declared as funny in the extreme.

the Bijou, as it is one of the best. Immediately after this play was launched in New York, seven road companies formed and toured the mainland and today you will find according to theatrical reports no less than four companies playing this great piece from city to city and not counting the numerous first class dramatic stock companies that are using it at least once a year. The play will be admirably cast and each member will have ample opportunities to display ability. Mr. George Webb will be seen in the leading role of James Smith, superintendent of dockage of the Latin American Steamship Company, a part well suited to him. Mr. Guy Hittner will have the famous part, Captain Williams, one of the strongest character roles written. Misses Oakley and Ragan will be happily cast. "Paid in Full" will be the last offering before the closing week. Commencing Monday night the Players will be seen in three of the biggest winners, "The Barrier," and Wednesday and Thursday "The Girl of the Golden West." Friday and Saturday "Within the Law." All records at the Bijou should be broken the last week with these three plays. Seats are now selling for the entire week. Tonight an attractive souvenir photo of George Webb will be given to all who attend.

The color of the moment is "majesty blue," which may be described as a pale hydrangea blue, but must not be mistaken for the pale blue hydrangea.
